In The News

Texas Southwestern wins gold again at Games

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - For the second time in three years, Texas Southwestern has won the gold medal in the AAU Junior Olympic Games girls basketball tournament. This year, they advanced unbeaten through the winner's bracket and defeated Team Ohio, 62-58, in the title game.

Texas Southwestern (8-0) led 25-22 at the half and used a strong game from floor general Kenya Larkin to hold off Team Ohio (7-2) down the stretch. Larkin finished with a game-high 17 points while running the point and Joel Ferrell Award Winner Tracy Gahan scored nine points.

Leading by six with under two minutes to play, Texas Southwestern did give Team Ohio a chance to stay alive by missing the front end of consecutive one-and-ones, but Team Ohio was unable to take advantage at the other end.

"It was a total team effort the whole tournament," said Gahan, whose award recognizes both athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Team Ohio was led once again by the powerful inside play of Shalon Pillow, who scored 15 points. Dallas Williams added 13.

Last year, Texas Southwestern finished as silver medalists. In 1995, they won the gold medal.
